- 25X11. Tomo Jancikovic, formerly a prominent HSS (Croatian Peasant Party) leader, was arrested recently in Zagreb by the Yugoslav authorities for unknown reasons. Subject had been conducting his private law practice in Zagreb for some months before his arrest.
- 25X1 2. Jancikovic returned to Yugoslavia together with Subasic, Sutej, and Grol, and was made acting Governor of the National Bank of Yugoslavia. He resigned this post when Subasic and the others left the Tito Government.
3. It is rumored that his arrest is related to the arrest of Dr. Dragoljub Jovanovic, which occurred a short time previously. Other rumors connect his arrest with that of Franje Gazi, another HSS leader, which also took place about the same time.
- 25X1 4. In this connection, [] a recent "clean-up" of the legal profession took place in Yugoslavia. This purge was directed by the Central Ministry of the Interior through the Ministries of Interior of the various Federal Republics. Commissions were appointed in each republic to carry on the work. In Zagreb, of some 180 practicing lawyers two-thirds were eliminated. Among those permitted to continue their practice were those who defended Archbishop Stepinac and Dr. Sutej.
